

Sauk Creek Madison, WI

The Sauk Creek neighborhood is located south of Old Sauk Road and east of the Beltline on the west side of Madison. This popular subdivision offers convenient access to the neighborhood library and an abundance of local parks, shops, and restaurants. Most of the homes in Sauk Creek neighborhood were built in the late 1980s and early 1990s. Although you'll find a few ranch style houses in the subdivision, most of the properties in the area feature a two-story design.

3 Parks

20+ Nearby Restaurants

1 Public Pool

Parks & Recreation

One popular feature of the neighborhood is the abundance of parks and green space. Haen Family Park, Sauk Creek Park, and Walnut Grove Park are only a short walk away from any neighborhood home. Another popular local destination is the High Point Pool, located at 901 N. High Point Road. Yet another strong selling point of the neighborhood is the close proximity to the public library. Alicia Ashman Library is located right across the street at 733 N. High Point Road. It's easy to "get local" in Sauk Creek. In addition to the public library, Sauk Point Square shopping center is home to a nice collection of locally-run businesses and restaurants. Other, larger shopping venues are located near the neighborhood. Both West Towne Mall and Greenway Station are minutes away by car.

Sauk Creek Schools

Depending on location, the households here are zoned to either Crestwood Elementary School or John Muir Elementary. All neighborhood homes are zoned to Jefferson Middle School and Memorial High School.

Mad City Dream Homes
RE/MAX Preferred
1619 Monroe St, Suite 1
Madison, WI 53711